Bill Podgorsek, 41, vice-chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, led the balloting for the City Council on Tuesday when he collected 1122 votes.

Winning the second Council seat was Ralph Doetsch, 56, who was reelected to his third term of office. Doetsch, a businessman-orchardist, garnered 1106 votes.

Kel Young, 62, an electrical contractor and former chairman of the Planning Commission, was third in the balloting with 918 votes.

Mrs. Velma Olds, city treasurer since 1958, withstood the challenge of Mrs. Nadine Sargent and was reelected to her fourth term as City Treasurer. Mrs. Olds received 996 votes while Mrs. Sargent collected 789.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan, in office since 1952, was again unopposed for her fifth consecutive term and received a resounding vote of confidence with a total of 1678 votes.

Only 1816 votes were cast in the election, representing approximately 21% of the total registered of 8629.

Council approves apartments

Third Screen loses ground

That long drawn-out third screen hassle of the Winchester Drive-In Theater now hinges on a proposal to buy and a counter-proposal to sell access over a 30-foot right-of-way, as a result of the City Council action Monday night.

But the third screen for Winchester Drive-In Theater became a little remote on Monday night when the City Council upheld the Planning Commission on the approval of an apartment complex for the six-acre parcel adjacent to the theater.

The entire matter, however, could come back to the City Council in 60 days unless the access problem is settled.

Syufy Enterprises had appealed the conditions levied by the Commission which specified that satisfactory access must be provided by the applicant at no cost to the city.

Prior to upholding the Commission by a 4-1 vote (Bill Smeed dissenting) the Council ruled that access over a 30-foot easement that now exists (owned by Fred Sahadi and Mac Morris, owners of the mobile home park adjacent to the theater) would be satisfactory.

The feature of Monday's meeting, however, was not the Council's action so much as the performance by the attorneys involved.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina summarized the results of a conference that had taken place between representatives of Syufy Enterprises and Sahadi relative to the acquisition of the access in question.

All that transpired at the meeting had been officially recorded by a court reporter and the transcript of the conference was part of the hearing on Monday night.

Bonacina said also that since the conference a copy of a proposal to buy the right-of-way of the access had been submitted by Syufy Enterprises through Mike DiLeonardo, attorney for Syufy. He also added that a counter-proposal to sell had been submitted by Sahadi.

DiLeonardo charged, however, that the proposal by Sahadi was in reality a "sham" and was not realistic.

Jules Pearlman, attorney for Sahadi, on the other hand, took issue with DiLeonardo. He maintained that the proposal they had submitted was basically sound. He admitted that the price might possibly be open to compromise as Syufy had offered $10,000 and Sahadi was asking $20,000.

After listening to the description of the points of difference in the proposal and the counter - proposal and the charges and counter-charges of the two attorneys, the Council concluded, in effect, that definite buy and sell proposals had been made and that it was possible for the access to be acquired, provided the people could get together.

On the motion of Councilman Ed Rogers (seconded by Mayor Homer Hyde) the Council voted to uphold the HARD-BITTEN OLD newspaper pros (like the writer of this column) are, as a rule, pretty much immune to special gimmicks that are foisted upon them by public relations people from time to time as a means to get news space in a newspaper for the product they are boosting.

On the other hand, often when a novel or clever approach is used by a PR guy or gal, most pros will recognize the efforts that have been put forth and most of the time will mention the product the PR people are handling.

Take, for example, the little package we received recently through the mails from British Columbia.

It was wrapped in a colorful map of that Canadian province and on the reverse side of the map/wrapping paper were the highlights of "Beautiful British Columbia."

Then in a little sort of jewel box was ONE gold cufflink.

There were also several pieces of literature around the little cufflink box.

One was on parchment paper, complete with a gold seal.

WE QUOTE FROM THIS impressive document:

"As a wee gift of greeting from British Columbia, Spanish gold cufflinks are not as incongruous as they may seem. British Columbia has much in common with California; including our early Spanish history and our respective gold rushes!

"THE MISSING LINK... was held out - not as an inducement to publish our release (Heaven forbid!) ... but as a shameless bribe to try to motivate a busy editor to send us (a) a clipping if you do use it; (b) the enclosed notice if you do not.

"We will forward the second cufflink as soon as we receive either one!"

The news release explained that a color-slide program capturing the beauty of British Columbia, Canada, had been presented to the Campbell Rotary Club along with a live narration by two B.C. visitors, Fred Oakley of Vancouver and D. J. Doswell, of Delta, British Columbia.

The release then went on to describe what it was all about.

EACH SPRING, THE British Columbia Government Department of Travel Industry organizes a California tour of more than 60 British Columbians.

Collectively the British Columbia enthusiasts present more than 400 slide programs - extolling the virtues of the province as a vacation paradise - to service clubs, auto and trailer groups, etc.

The photographic tour was conceived about eight years ago by the deputy minister of British Columbia Department of Travel Industry, and the tour has grown with each succeeding year.

This year the Bay Area was hit by the British Columbia enthusiasts first and then the group hit the L. A. area.

The slide program shows the urban attractions around Vancouver, includes views of the Canadian Rockies, the spectacular Rogers Pass on the Trans - Canada Highway. It shows the cattle country of the historic Cariboo and popular fishing and big-game country.

Obviously, the program has been well received in California.

Pollution of one sort or another has begun to detract from the original attractiveness of this state which, at one time, probably could compare favorably with the scenic attractions now offered by British Columbia.

As you must now realize,

IN TRIBUTE TO A FELLOW OFFICER--More than 700 mourners assembled in the First United Methodist Church of Campbell last Thursday to pay their last respects to George Michael (Mike) Alleyn, a Campbell High grad of 1964, who joined the California Highway Patrol in 1968. He was killed with three other CHP officers by two desperate gunmen in southern California. The Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould conducted the services.

In attendance at the services were more than 200 police officers representing the CHP and other law enforcement agencies. The parking lot at the Campbell Shopping Center (above) was almost half-filled with the police vehicles.

Budding bank "boom" bursts on Campbell front

Campbell is giving a new optimistic meaning to that panic-laden expression of the past that there is a "run on banks" in town.

New banks are coming in and present banks that are now operating are planning expansion programs.

Plans for two new bank buildings (one on the east end and one on the west) will be before the Planning Commission for approval next Monday night (April 20).

Still in the rumor stage are expansion plans for another bank and two other banks, now without local branches are definitely eyeing possible locations in the city.

There are now five banks in town.

If all the rumors materialize, there will be three more and two of the present ones will have new quarters.

At next Monday's Planning Commission meeting, Kent Kirkorian of Kirkwood Plaza is presenting plans for approval for a 5800-square foot building at 655 San Tomas Road (next to Mayfair) on a 15,000 square foot parcel.

Hibernia Bank is the specified tenant.

Up for approval also are the plans for the new Bank of America branch that will be located on the northwest corner of Bascom and Campbell in the "The Prune Yard" shopping center.

Announcement of this move by B of A (the Hamilton branch will be moved) was made last year.

Plans call for a 7000 square foot lower floor and a 3000-square foot mezzanine.

The Planning Commission is also scheduled to act on the plans for a new shopping center at San Tomas Road and Campbell Ave. Action on the plans was continued from the previous meeting for the modified plans to be checked by staff.

Plans call for a super-market and all the sateliates, including a free-standing bank building (no name mentioned).

Also up for approval at the Planning Commission is a parcel map for property on W. Hamilton between Ken's House of Pancakes and Winchester. Well-founded sources indicate that a local bank plans to build new quarters on the site.

And still another bank is

Bus tours launch program

Congress week opens Monday

Tours of the business and industrial segments of Campbell next Monday, April 20, will launch this year's Congress for Community Progress, which has "Know Your Campbell" as its theme.

Campbell's fourth annual Congress for Community Progress will be held next week in conjunction with Public Schools Week. Three main events will highlight the week's program, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The program begins on Monday with a unique bus tour of the community and Dr. Max Rafferty, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be the featured speaker at the dinner on Friday, April 24, which will culminate the week's activities.

The dinner will be held in the Campbell High School cafetorium at 7 p.m. The tab for the dinner will be $3.50 and advanced reservations need to be made by this Thursday, April 16.

The Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell, is chairman of this year's Congress, marking the third year that he has served in that capacity.

Monday's bus tour will be divided into two groups. One group will tour the business community in the morning.

This will include a visit to Breuner's and "The Towers" and "The PruneYard". The second contingent will tour IBM, DeLuxe Check Printers and Snowden-Pencer in the industrial section of the town.

The two buses that have been obtained will leave the CofC office (100 W. Rincon) at 10 a.m. and return at noon. The groups will switch tours in the afternoon.

Monday's bus tours emphasize the theme of this year's Congress, "Know Your Campbell".

The discussion groups for the Congress will take place at the First United Methodist Church on Thursday, April 23.

There will be two sessions, one starting at 10:30 a.m. with a break for lunch and will end at 2:30 p.m.

The cost, including lunch, is $2.

Speaker at the luncheon Thursday will be Thomas B. Brown whose subject will be

Creek cooperation

A few weeks ago approximately 75 persons, young elderly and in-the-middle, went on a hike along Los Gatos Creek from Campbell Park to Vasona Park in Los Gatos.

A few of the more hardy souls continued on to Lexington.

The purpose of the hike was to emphasize the possibilities that exist for the potential development of the creek area into recreational uses.

The hikers, to a degree, followed an uncharted route, for there is no trail that now exists from Campbell Park to Vasona.

But even in the undeveloped portion of the area along the creek, which is most of the way, it was obvious that with a minimum of effort and cooperation of the public agencies involved, the area could be beautified and, to some extent, made usable for recreational purposes.

In recent months, spearheaded mainly by efforts stemming from the Campbell Parks and Recreation Commission, the various public agencies involved have indicated their willingness to cooperate in the Los Gatos Creek beautification and development program.

This indication of cooperation is a giant step forward. There are four public agencies; Santa Clara County, the Town of Los Gatos, City of Campbell, and the Santa Clara County Flood Control and Water District, that have a part to play in any improvement that can be made.

The next step that is contemplated is to have each agency agree on common goals and to accept the objectives and responsibilities that are involved in a joint participation.

Each of the agencies have under their respective jurisdictions certain portions of the creek area and thus the agencies can exercise definite planning land use and zoning controls that will assist in the compatible development of properties not owned by the agencies.

Under a master plan for the area which would be first approved by all agencies, the individual entities could landscape their portions following the guideline that was established.

In that manner, there would be a uniformity in the beautification.

Probably the key agency involved is the Santa Clara County Flood Control and Water District, for the creek channel, the percolation ponds and much of the banks are under the district's control.

We are pleased to learn that the district is willing to cooperate, in fact is agreeable to lead the way through the development of an overall landscaping plan on their own.

This joint participation cannot help but be beneficial to all of us, for the agencies all have the same responsibilities to the citizens, although their approaches may be different.

They are all tax-supported bodies and thus should be cognizant of the needs of the people.

What makes the creek project so feasible is that the objectives are the same for all the agencies concerned.

In other words, unlike many proposals in which joint participation is needed, there can be as many differences of opinion as there are agencies involved.

But the general minimum objectives for the beautification and development of Los Gatos Creek provide a common denominator.

To illustrate what we mean, the objectives would be:

To provide a continuous park-like improvement between Campbell Ave. and Lexington Reservoir.

To achieve, as far as possible, a natural appearing stream, utilizing native trees and shrubs in the landscaping.

To provide access to the creek and establish, where possible, hiking, bicycle riding and equestrian paths.

To provide areas of interest along the length of the project.

To seek cooperation with the Division of Highways so that future landscaping of the freeway would be compatible to the project.

Incidentally, these points which we have enumerated are those that have been specified in the statement of policies and objectives that have been approved by Campbell's Park and Recreation Commission and have been submitted to the City Council.

We have long advocated the development of the Los Gatos Creek area, not only because of the potential recreational uses that exist but also because the creek area is so visible from the freeway.

It was obvious from the start that without cooperation of all agencies concerned, beautification and utilization would be limited.

Now it looks as if the cooperation is an established fact.

THIS SEMESTER, ALONG with our Dorothy, we have enrolled in a conversational Spanish course offered under the Metropolitan Adult Education Program.

The class has proved interesting and stimulating, although there is some question about the amount of conversational Spanish either one of us has assimilated so far.

The big difference in the learning process in the adult course compared to the courses we have taken in the dim, dark past is that there is no danger of flunking.

It is up to us to get what we can out of it, with no thought of credit or grades.

It puts a different value on this educational thing as a whole, as far as we are concerned anyway.

It takes a little getting used to.

Quien sabe?

-0-

IT MAY BE THAT A course in conversational English is needed also in order to understand some of the expressions that the young people are using today.

We are not referring to those four-letter jobs that some youths use in a feeble attempt to shock the establishment.

Most of that variety have been around lots longer than any of the callow youths who seem to think it is smart to use 'em. We have a different opinion on that subject.

But there are some expressions that the kids are using today that, when translated, make sense to some degree, even to an old foggie who is part of the "establishment" and proud of it.

Recently we were involved in an animated discussion with a couple of college gals.

We learned about "RIGHT ON", for example and "RAPPING or RAP-OUT."

For the uninitiated, "right on" apparently is used with a raised arm and emphasizes that the speaker is right on target.

At least that's the way we got it...

RIGHT ON !

"Rapping-out" means the reverse, more or less. We are "rapping-out" now.

Of course, there were others used that purely were of the supposedly shock type.. Ones that have been long taboo in mixed company, especially in our generation. They are used now apparently to show how wrong society has been in the past, or something.

Yet somehow to us there was no real shock involved.

After all, we had been exposed to those same words (and used many of 'em under certain limited conditions) long before those youngsters were even born.

So they are not new. They have been around a while.

Most of 'em show a distinct limitation in one's vocabulary but little shock to us. Just utterly poor taste.

They may think that it is an outward show of rebellion against convention and society.

But, in our book, it is an extremely distastful way of doing it.

But then we are opposed also to violence in the so-called demonstrations and destruction of property.

So you see we are way out.

IN THE MAIL RECENTLY we received the announcement from Ken Mantle, former president of the Campbell CofC and a long-time top producer for New York Life that his company has opened a Campbell general office in The Towers Building, Suite 701.

A message in the announcement cordially invited us to come in at any time to inspect the new offices.

We have browsed around "The Towers" a bit with Kev Salmon, the leasing agent for "The Towers" and "The PruneYard". We don't blame Ken and New York Life for wanting to show off their plush new quarters.

It is really somethin'.

Especially for Campbell.

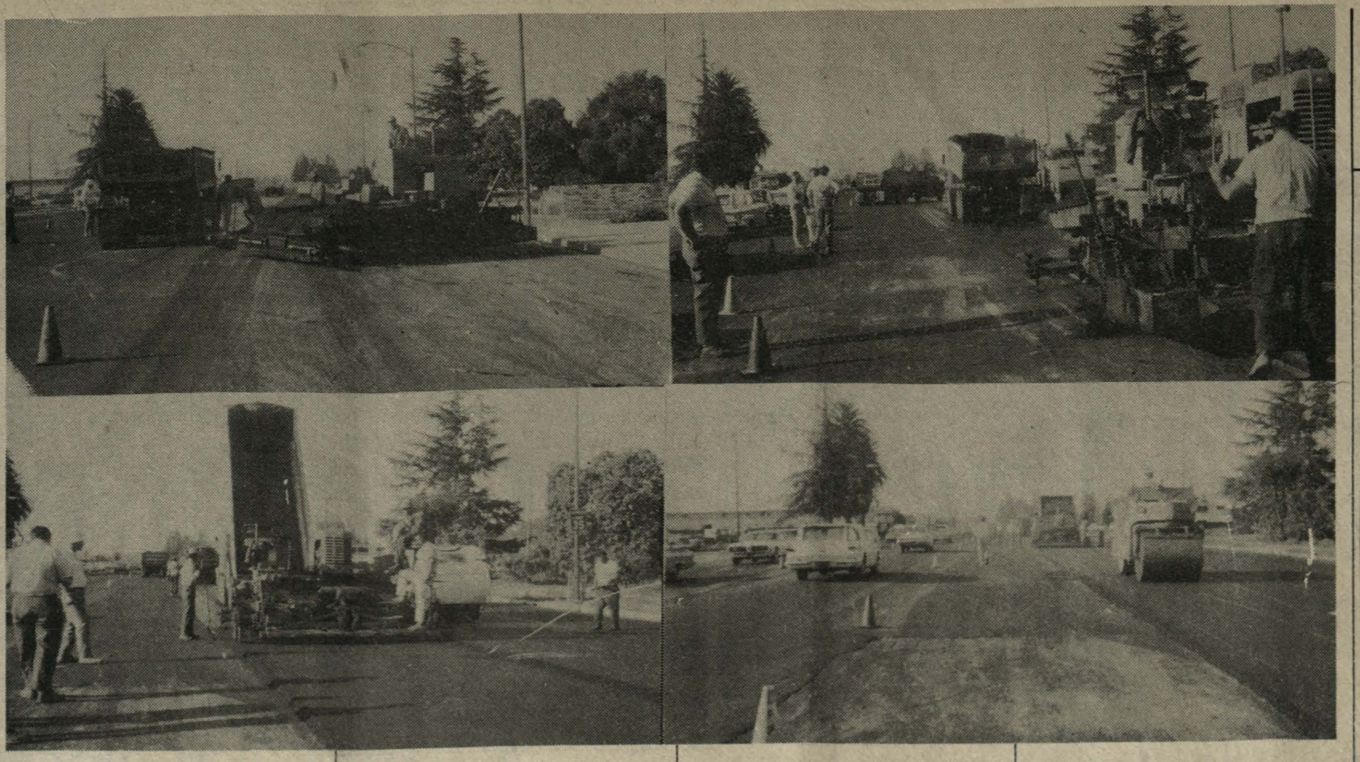
An accompanying card with the announcement reported that Ken Mantle has (for the ninth year) received "The National Quality Award", presented by the National Association of Life Underwriters and The Life Insurance Agency Management Association.

We quote: "The award is presented each year to those men and women whose superior record of life insurance service to the public qualifies them as leaders in their chosen field".

Nice going, Ken.

And he earned it before he moved into "The Towers".

Now look how high he can go.



A MAJOR STREET PROJECT---With the removal of the utility poles from Bascom Ave., final work on the improvement (resurfacing) and widening of the street is under way (above).

The street improvement project, totaling more than $500,000 is the largest single street improvement project in the history of the city.

Most of the improvements are being done under a Local Improvement District that has been formed. The project extends from the Hamilton Ave. bridge to the southern city limits on Bascom and includes Campbell Ave. from Bascom to the freeway.

At the request of Attorney DiLeonardo, the Council then continued for 60 days any action on the appeals of two other Planning Commission rulings affecting the theater.

The Commission had denied a zone change request for the six-acre parcel requested by Syufy Enterprises and a use permit for a third screen. (The zone change is necessary if the present theater is to expand.)

In the 60-day interim, the councilmen indicated that they hoped that Syufy and Sahadi could come to an agreement.

He is organizer and chairman of "Friends of the Foothills", an ad hoc group of citizens formed to fight the proposed Westridge Shopping Center and is active in Green Foothills, Sierra Club, and People for Open Space.

Brown maintains that cities often are prone to bargain away urban services in competition to secure choice commercial or industrial developments in order to improve the tax base to the detriment of their citizens. Brown is expected to present several alternatives dealing with this situation.

There will be a repeat Congress in the evening from 7 to 9 p.m. also at the church for the convenience of those who cannot attend the daytime sessions.

The discussion groups for the Congress will feature three main subjects, 1) narcotics; 2) education; 3) community social problems.

The narcotics group will be led by Hack Bowen, authority on drug problems from the high school district, and Willy Ellison, of the county probation department. The group will meet in Room 5 at the church.

Dick Davis, of the Moreland School District, and Frank Bonnano, trustee of the Campbell Union High School District, will lead the education panel in the Wesley Room at the church.

Karl Marshall will be the community social problems leader which will meet in the sanctuary at the church.

Reports of these panels will be made at the dinner on Friday night after Dr. Rafferty speaks. A barbershop quartet, "The Old Time Harmony Four" will furnish the entertainment at the dinner.

The program also calls for a question and answer period at Friday's affair.

looking at another shopping center.

Although the banking business grabs the headlines for next Monday's Planning Commission meeting, the matter of possible permanent rezoning of the Gilman-Dillon-Railway area will be the most complex issue facing the Planners.

The first hearing on the lifting of the interim zoning, which has been in effect for more than a year, and establishing new zoning for the area is scheduled for Monday night.

The Commission will consider modifying the specific area plan which calls for multiples.

Zones to be considered range from M-1-S (industrial), commercial, multiples amd P-D (planned development).

Plans for two industrial buildings (Home Federal Savings and R & M Plastering) on Dillon Ave. are also before the Commission.

Blackford student takes top valley science awarards

Mark Donnell, senior at Blackford High, took top honors at the tenth annual Santa Clara Valley Science Fair, held at County fairgrounds last weekend.

He has earned an expense paid trip to Baltimore, Md., with his science teacher, Darrell Linthacum, to compete at the International Science Fair next month. Mark swept the physical science field with a first place for his ion linear accelerator, which he built himself, and also for a technical paper on alpha particle reactors.

Sharing grand prize awards was Steven Fong of Willow Glen High, who with his teacher Mrs. Lillian Severin, will accompany Mark and Mr. Linthacum. Fair director Richard Castronovo, science teacher at Cupertino Junior High, will escort them to International, where their projects will compete with winners from around the world. Steven's project deals with experiments in aging and took the top biological science honors.

Grand prize winners were chosen from senior division winners – 10th, 11th and 12th grades – following intensive personal interviews with the judges. Plaques were provided by the American Institute of Astronautics and Aeronautics, and were presented to the winners by Dr. Norman Shumway, internationally known heart transplant surgeon from Stanford University Medical Center.

In addition to copping the top prize, another Campbell student won the coveted Navy Science Cruiser Award, which takes a student to sea on a research ship. John McClelland, sophomore, Campbell High, Jacqueline Madhok's class, was the Navy special winner and took a first place for his project on nuclear transplantation and cell differentiation. First place winner Dave Chiaramonte, Campbell High junior of Mrs. Madhok's class, received a special Air Force Science Award for "The Effect of Cyclamates on Chick Embryos."

American Institute of Astronautics and Aeronautics special award winners were Stephen Falling, second place winner of Campbell High and a senior in John Ewert's class, for his physics project, "Smoke Tunnel Aerodynamics"; and Sara Spears, Bohnett sixth grader, Nicholas Sanford's class, first place winner for her chemistry project, "Milk and Conditions".

NASA special award winner Keith Kelly, Bohnett sixth grader, is also in Sanford's class. His project, "A Comparison of Radiation Sources," won a first place in the Science Fair.

David Rosenthal of Mrs. Madhok's sophomore class received second place for "Effect of Radiation". Ewert's junior grade Campbell High students Paul Rosenlund, "Detergent Moisture"; Paul DeArmond, "Crystals and Vacuum", and Marilyn Wen, "Protein and Regeneration," all picked up second place awards, along with Richard Wright of Donald Dunton's senior Blackford High class, for his "Rat Visual Centers". Students competed by grade level.

George Mueller, Castro Junior High seventh grader, won a first prize for "Ozone and Plants"; Wynn Joe, teacher.

Bohnett School first place winners from Sanford's sixth grade are Nancy Carman, "Salt vs. Fresh Water"; Keith Kelly, "Radiation Sources"; Kevin Hill, "Smog Control Device"; and Teri Wheeler won second place for "Soap in Water."

Del Mar High winners, both Larry Flanner's senior students, are Kenneth Murray, "Longevity," first place; and Alan Robb, "Population Studies," second place.

This year's Valley Science Fair was the largest ever held, with thousands of students, parents and the public visiting the Fair and attending award ceremonies.

President Everett H. Layne, of General Electric, commented, "It is notable that the trends of projects were toward solutions to the ecological problems of the '70's, and that Campbell schools have certainly demonstrated the high quality of their science education opportunities. To have developed so many winners reveals the dedication and ability of their teachers, as well as of the students themselves."

The annual Valley Science Fair is supported by contributions from industry and science throughout Santa Clara County.

State Scholarship Commission announces local winners

The names of local students selected as State Scholars for the academic year 1970-71 have been announced by The State Scholarship and Loan Commission.

The students were selected from more than 33,000 applicants and are within the highest 10% of college aptitude scores. Students and school were notified on April 10 of the selections. Scholarships are awarded to academically able students who are in need of financial assistance at the college they will attend.

Following is the list of local winners, their addresses and the schools they attend:

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

Here's one that will surprise a lot of people...Despite the fact that the Kentucky Derby is by far the most famous of all horse races, there are actually SEVEN other races in America that pay more money to the winner than the Kentucky Derby does!... Those seven that are worth more than the Kentucky Derby are the Arlington-Washington Futurity, Garden States Stakes, Yankee Handicap, Gardenia Stakes, Champaigne Stakes, Pimlico-Laurel Futurity and the Preakness.

Here's an oddity...The name of the award that baseball gives to the top pitcher every year is the "Cy Young Award"–yet, did you know that Cy Young himself LOST more games than any other pitcher in big league baseball history!...Young lost 315 games and no one else is close to that.

Bringing up fido

Because not too many years ago owning a "pure-bred" dog was a prestige thing, it's not uncommon for people today to still have a lot of misconceptions about "papered" dogs.

Even though this statement may bring criticism down upon me, I want to state in no uncertain terms that I don't believe that having papers makes a dog any better or worse than his brethen.

There are distinct advantages, however, which makes me a strong champion for owning such a pet.

First of all, let me point out that most dogs, properly cared for, have a life expectancy of ten or twelve years.

Since this dog is going to be around for a while, he is worth a sound investigation of of temperament, health, and proposed appearance. Since a "papered" dog does have certain characteristics, this does put him a step above the mongrel.

However, don't be fooled. Papers don't make the dog.

Sound breeding and good background do, coupled with proper training.

I know a female dog who has a pedigree of champions that is far more impressive than many top winning champions have.

But, she is spayed.

She was spayed as a young dog and for very good reason. She's small, her over-all appearance does not give credit to her breed and while her temperament is average, it isn't superior.

Her breeder was smart. She recognized these things and choose not to multiply these faults.

The need for prestige has taken another turn more recently and many people are buying "imported" dogs from foriegn countries because they have been misled into thinking that this constitutes a better dog. Besides, wasn't the father a champion?

If you sincerely want a dog to grow up with your children or to keep you company on stormy nights or to accompany you on trips in your car and you recognize that this dog is going to be with you for many years, isn't it important that you take care in making a selection?

Paying a big price and having a paper showing generations of champions doesn't guarentee that the dog is going to be all the things you want.

But if you take time and care in making a selection and the dog IS well-bred, then at least, there's a fifty-fifty chance that six months from now you won't be looking around for a "home" for your mistake.

A "papered" dog purchased from a sincere breeder who honestly felt that they bred the best possible litter of puppies, which will conform with the breed's written standard, good health and disposition are for my money, the safest investment you can make.

Incidentally, if you are interested in reading up on a breed "standard" as approved by the American Kennel Club, visit your local library. They have books on individual breeds, plus copies of the AKC's "Complete Dog Book."

College offers class in black literature

A nine-week course in black literature will begin at West Valley College April 22.

The course is designed to provide learning experiences through black American literature that will permit the student to gain a better understanding of the black man in America and to provide the necessary background material to help students assess their potential for really seeing America through the eyes of a black man.

During the Wednesday night sessions (from 7 to 10 p.m.), Mrs. Barbara Kingsby will divide the reading selections into four major concerns of the black situation: black oppression, the black experience, black pride and dignity and black hope.

Basic texts for the course will be Ralph Ellison's "The Invisible Man," Henrik Clarke's "The American Negro Short Stories," and "The Autobiography of Malcolm X."

Mrs. Kingsby graduated from San Jose State College with a degree in English and anthropology. In addition to teaching assignments at Menlo-Atherton High School and Peter Burnett Jr. High School in San Jose, she is currently teaching black studies at San Jose High School.

Registration is required for the non-graded, non-credit course. Applications may be obtained from the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, telephone 379-1733, ext. 58. Priority will be given to residents of the district.

City residents get free trash pickup

A free rubbish pick-up will be offered to Campbell residents on Friday, April 24, for customers of the Green Valley Disposal Company in connection with the Campbell spring clean-up time.

All rubbish and discarded materials will be picked up by the scavenger company free of charge for all residents of Campbell living within the city limits of Campbell and a customer in good standing with the scavenger company;

All debris should be placed on the curb in front of the residence before 7 a.m. on Friday, April 24. If your property has access to an alley way and this is your regular pick-up location, debris may be placed there.

All rubbish material must be placed in boxes or metal containers light enough for one man to carry. Trimmings must be bundled in four-foot lengths.

No furniture, appliances, boxes of dirt or rocks will be picked up.

If a resident would like to have an old trash can or garbage container removed, a note should be left indicating it is for removal.

The free trash pick-up is part of the annual City of Campbell Clean-up project sponsored by the Campbell Fire Department.

Council changes zones then approves S. Bascom annexation

In two related actions on Monday night, the City Council pre-zoned a six-lot proposed annexation on S. Bascom (including "The Yardstick") and then proceeded to unanimously approve the annexation of the area.

The Council pre-zoned the entire annexation C-2-S (medium commercial) thus overruling the Planning Commission recommendation that put P-O (professional office) on the west side and C-2-S on the east side. That split-zoning suggestion came after the Commission had deadlocked on three other zoning suggestions.

Present at the meeting Monday were residents of the area adjacent to "The Yardstick", who have complained that the firm's increased business had encroached on the residential area because of parking problems and other factors.

Spokesman for the residents was Richard Schilling from El Solyo. He had appeared at the Planning Commission session to voice the objections of the residents.

Three residents of Shady Dale, Charles Purnell, George Del Tour and John D. Jacques, also spoke at the meeting in opposition to commercial zoning for the area.

Present also was Mrs. Margaret Snow, representing one of the property owners being annexed. She said she did not oppose the C-2-S zoning but was opposed to the annexation.

Written protests to the annexation, however, based on the total assessed valuation of the entire section were not enough to nullify the proposed annexation and the Council gave first reading to the zoning ordinance as well as the annexation ordinance which will bring the area into the city.

In another action, the Council approved the sale of $80,000 in park bonds for a five-year period to allow for the development of the neighborhood park project. Mayor Homer Hyde opposed the sale of the bonds on such a short term.

The Council also approved the statement of policy for the development of Los Gatos Creek as outlined by Don Hebard, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission. Hebard explained that all the governmental agencies involved in the creek development were being asked to approve the policies.

At the request of Steve Goodman, manager of Sanitation District 4, the Council adopted a resolution asking the regional water control board to cooperate in working out an agreement for the bay area pollution. Mayor Hyde abstained from discussion and voting because he is a member of the control board.

The Council also approved the requests of the public works department for settlement of some of the easement problems relative to the widening and improving of S. Bascom. Bill Wren, public works director, pointed out that some of the settlements were higher than had been anticipated because the valuations had gone up since the improvements had been under way.

Before the Council swung into its lengthy session (the meeting lasted until 1 a.m.), Mayor Hyde accepted a 1969 plaque for the national clean-up contest from Mrs. Jeanette Watson, chairman of the Citizens for Beautification.

Then, with the help of Mrs. Watson, Mayor Hyde presented certificates of appreciation to representatives of the many groups who participated in the landscaping of the new fire station.

Bob Bullard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, summarized the semi-annual report submitted by the CofC, a procedure that the Council specifies must be done before the semi-annual allocation of $6250 is made by the City to the CofC.

In another action, the Council overruled a Planning Commission decision affecting a proposed apartment complex on San Tomas Expressway. The Planning Commission, in granting an extension of time to the developers, had reduced the number of units from 176 to 139, based on a new ordinance which reduces the density in that particular zoning. Guild West, planners for the complex, had appealed this reduction.

Dick Morton, prominent San Jose attorney and former Campbell mayor, represented the developers.

Bank robber loses second time around

Slightly more than an hour after a holdup of Barclay's Bank in Campbell had taken place on Friday afternoon, (the second such robbery in less than a month) the robber suspect was in custody of the police.

And personnel at the bank allege that both holdups were done by the same person.

Robert Guffey, also known as Robert Jackson, was in custody Friday night, April 10, as the robber suspect in the Barclay's Bank holdup Friday afternoon and also in the March 18 robbery of the same bank.

Only one hour and 15 minutes elapsed between the time of the robbery and the arrest.

At 3:01, the suspect, wearing a ski mask and carrying a hand gun, entered the bank at 1825 S. Winchester. Approaching the teller's windows he assertedly stated that "This time make it fast, and no coins". He then fired a bullet into the woodwork of the teller's cage, and then apologized for the gun going off.

The tellers passed the paper sack from window to window while the suspect stood by the door.

RAIN DROPS

A total of .06 of an inch of rain fell in Campbell during the surprise storm that hit Monday, bringing the total for the season to 12.56 inches.

Normal rainfall for April 15 is 15.40 inches with 24.59 having been recorded at this time last year. Total rainfall for the year ending June 30, 1969, was 24.81 inches. In April 1967 two inches of rain fell after the middle of the month.

Two hurt in train accident

Two people were hospitalized Monday afternoon after a Southern Pacific train, engineered by Forrest Stanley Titus, struck a car driven by Loretta C. Livermore of 1401 Capri Dr., Los Gatos, at the Division Street crossing.

According to witnesses the Livermore car had pulled in front of a pick-up truck, and then couldn't back up because the truck was behind her. She then turned to the left, but was struck by the train.

SISTERS FOR A YEAR-- Lynn Dethlefsen on the left, with her "sister" Vesna Milkovic, from Koper, Yugoslavia, who is spending a year in Campbell through the Youth for Understanding Program.

Yugoslavian girl spends year in Campbell in YFU program

Vesna Milkovic, 19, from Koper, Yugoslavia, is spending a year in Campbell through the Youth for Understanding Program. While here, she is making her home with the Richard M. Dethlefsen family, 1131 Monica Lane, and has become fast friends with Lynn Dethlefsen, the 19-year-old daughter of the house.

Both Lynn and Vesna are seniors at Del Mar High School. Vesna, who arrived in Campbell Aug. 27, 1969, loves California and the Dethlefsens have arranged that she has seen most of it. At first she found our custom of eating three times a day difficult to adjust to, as in Yugoslavia they eat four meals a day. She reports that the food is essentially the same, but prepared differently. So far her greatest food likes are strawberries, apples, sunflower seeds and steak.

Verna speaks excellent English and has had eight years of English language study in her home school. She plays the violin and plans on majoring in psychology for small children. She will attend college at the University in Ljubljana where an older sister is already attending school studying medicine.

Verna's father is a retired Army Officer and her mother is employed in a doll factory. Her home town is located on the Adriatic Sea and is a good sized sea port with a population of around 20,000.

Vesna finds the climate of Koper and Campbell somewhat similar although in Koper they have snow in the wintertime. She will return home sometime in late July.

Beck's Shoe store starts second year

Beck's Shoe Store at 3687 Union Ave., this week marks the start of its second year in this location. Coincident with the anniversary is the announcement that the store led all others on the West Coast in their first year. Jack Pipe, manager of the store since it opened a year ago, has been named a candidate for manager of the year by the shoe company's West Coast offices.

In commenting on the store's phenomenal success in its first year, Pipe attributed it to his company's policy of carrying the most complete selection of sizes possible. Incidentally, one particular shoe style advertised in this week's ad is the No. 1 seller in the nation.

The Union Avenue store is one of three operated in Santa Clara County by William Beck, son of the founder of the Beck's Shoe Stores in Salinas in 1919.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

It is easy to understand and identify with the American public's disenchantment with the war in Vietnam. It has degenerated into a series of frittered opportunities and could well become our first military defeat. It is fought on behalf of people with no apparent unified national purpose and in cooperation with a government which is corrupt in the eyes of most Americans.

It is a war where the kindly kid next door is forced to fight an enemy he cannot identify, which often includes women and children. No wonder we all want out as quickly as possible!

But what I don't understand is why, when the government of South Vietnam does something good it is hardly noticed and is obliterated by repeated expressions of everything that is wrong. This is what happened with the final adoption of President Thieu's long sought after land reform program. Passage of his bill was the best news to come out of Asia since the end of World War II but with very few exceptions it was overlooked.

I was in Saigon during the Easter recess of 1968 and listened to President Thieu enthusiastically outline his plan for free distribution of three million acres of land to one million families. At that time the new constitution had just been adopted and this was one of his first requests of the legislative assembly.

To his credit, he has made good on his word and pushed the legislation to enactment through a reluctant legislative body. He has already initiated the distribution of 150,000 acres of government-owned lands and in so doing has deprived some highly placed Vietnamese officials of a major source of profit.

The massive program will cost the Thieu government $400 million over the next eight years and it will be the most massive, successful land reform project in Far Eastern modern history. It will apparently be different from the Chinese communist reform where the state reclaims land soon after it is redistributed.

The land reform program is important in the struggle against communism because it gives peasants and tenant farmers ownership of the land they work. It will exert a stabilizing influence on the central government and rob the Viet Cong of a major argument.

I have seen the mass graves at Hue where more than 3,000 Vietnamese civilians were murdered and some buried alive following the communist Tet offensive of 1968. I have listened to the stories told by the wives of American prisoners of war about the inhumane treatment they have received from the Hanoi government which refuses to live by the rules of international warfare as it pertains to prisoners.

These stories are not pretty, but somehow they are not given as much notice as a My Lai incident or the imprisonment of a political adversary by the Thieu government.

The land reform bill won't make saints of the leaders of South Vietnam, for indeed they are not. But I do hope that its long range importance as one of history's most significant events will not be buried in obscurity because of other things that are wrong and because of our own disenchantment with an abortive and ill-advised U. S. military involvement.
